Welcome to CPAP

Comprehensive Preparatory Assistance Program

Community-Based Organizations are the hubs for many neighborhoods and communities they serve. Do you have a need to expand the education component of your program?

Our educational program can provide another layer of support to your community-based educational programs.

The nonprofit Black College Sports & Education Foundation has a free Comprehensive Preparatory Assistance Program (CPAP), a tool with educational resources for new or existing programs. CPAP can help enrich the experience of our youth who seek to further their education.

Please take a minute to see what CPAP has to offer. Thank you!

Different folks, different strokes...

Everyone may have different educational aspirations, but whether college, technical or trade schools, CPAP offers a one-stop resource center with virtual assistance and much more.

CPAP: 5 Reasons to Partner with CBOs

- You provide educational and recreational services for youths and adults.
- You are the hub of community activities.
- You have a unique and important insight into the challenges and opportunities facing children and families in their neighborhood.
- You provide advocacy services for the diverse ethnic and cultural groups in the community.
- You have the trust of your community.

The CPAP educational component can add value to your programs by helping students and athletes to stay on track, especially during this pandemic times.

A Program Within Your Program

CPAP

CPAP is designed to work with community-based organizations that sponsor after-school activities such as after school tutoring and homework, sports and social skills.

For now, virtual communications allow us to offer career building skills, next-level education preparation and much, much more as an added component of your program agenda.

CPAP is an educational supplement that can be tailored to fit your program needs.

The Career Building program is virtual* and allows for interaction with students, staff and family members.

Overcoming Challenges

We realize serving the underserved can be a challenge. CPAP educational resources are available at no cost to the students and athletes.

We can deliver a virtual wealth of information and support to community-based groups online through our virtual communications network.

CPAP supports the efforts of afterschool services. This added benefit can encourage students to utilize their time more productively as they pursue their goals.

How It's Done?

CPAP offers students and CBOs access to the Resource Center which provides educational tools, FAQs, tutorials, webinars, videos, social media, emails, and more...

CPAP

- ❑ Students from 6-12 grades are eligible for the program. They are rated in the 6-8, 9-10, 11-12 grade categories. (Essential Student Information is provide to each category

- ❑ Students register with CPAP online...quick and simple. They will have access to their respective portal.

- ❑ Students, their families and CBOs have access to advisors. We encourage family participation throughout the process.

- ❑ Students and CBOs can access the CPAP Resource Center which houses educational tools, Frequently Asked Questions, tutorials, webinars, videos, social media, emails, and more.

- ❑ At this point, the Education Team develops a Progress Tracking folder that starts at the point the student is registered.

- ❑ CPAP creates a Personal folder ...which contains a student's bio...school data...personal interview information ...progress tracking...all information is highly secured.
